Ross Street Construction, Wellborn Road Passageway and Northgate/University Drive Pedestrian Improvement Plan

March 2, 2011

15 people – 5 from faculty or staff and 10 students observing for their class

1. Why do you allow outside traffic on Ross Street during the day?
2. Does that include Ireland Street also?
3. There are blocks of continual parking out there today.
4. How about enforcing along Ireland Street; it would be something you could do right now
5. Did you say you are eliminating the left hand turns onto Houston?
6. So if you coming from Texas you can turn left to get to the post office or will you have to go around to get to the post office?
7. Possible to get access to that animated viewing of the passageway scene?
8. Since you mention fees are parking fee staying the same this coming September?
9. How soon are you planning to have the traffic study done on Ireland Street?

6 Guests

1. This is the way it is today for the folks in Anthropology today. Deliveries cannot get close to the building. The big trucks cannot turn around in lot 23.
2. If you're driving on Wellborn toward campus will you be able to turn right?
3. Approximately when on the Wellborn Road project?
4. Handicapped lot across from Milner what is that lot going to be?
5. Is there going to be a waiting list for the lot?
6. Are you going to add any more HC spots, right by Central Campus Garage? It is just as close for visitors to park, when visiting anthropology, to park in Central Campus Garage.
7. Lot 23 the little road is bad between the lots and building, heard repeatedly from physical plant that lot is going to be used as a swing lot when they work on the chemistry building.
8. When will our access to the lot (lot23) be back to the 2nd drive?
9. Dangerous coming down that little strip, students, bikes, student's not watching. Just scary coming out at the end of the day.
